

Cancer JUNE 20-JULY 21

This bi-monthly period you are all about redefining yourself and your creative self-expression, discovering the magical incantation that allows you to gracefully enter into your next phase. You are exploring new realms of thought and action that take you literally out of this physical world. After a period of withdrawal leading up to the Summer Solstice that begins your birthday time of the year, you find yourself in the process of reinventing yourself and your possibilities for engaged interaction with the world around you as Mercury retrogrades through your sign. Tuning in to interior dream visions and reexamining your past winds up bringing you closer to a true understanding of where you are headed at this time in your life. The split between relying on your own values and resources, in your own way, versus taking on those of others around you carries an issue for your well being that may adversely affect your ability to grow and change. Old patterns of intimate connection are finally ready to yield, perhaps. When you are least expecting it, you'll find the key that fits, and suddenly feel it turning in the lock.

Leo JULY 22-AUG. 21

Your future is calling. You are getting entirely serious about your presentation as you work through how you come across to others based on your own inner discovery process. The early days of June represents the best chance you'll have all year to imagine new possibilities for yourself and to dream them into concrete reality, a reality that will not come into its own however until the July 24th New Moon and the re-entry of Mercury into your sign in mid-August. Earlier in July you'll likely enter into a reflective period of time, when you'll be taking a deeply reflexive look at yourself and your world, advancing your on-going exploration of innermost soul level concerns to a different and more powerful intensity. You are perhaps somewhat stuck in your self-concept right now, and are also fighting through old patterns of interaction that no longer serve you in the present moment, as your relationship to authority itself may be changing in the direction of renewal and potential healing.

Libra SEPT. 22-OCT. 22

You are entering a new stage. Intimacy issues that you have been unraveling lately have taken you over the threshold of your quest for meaning, leading the way into personal transformation and reevaluation of your worldview and of your interaction with intimate partners. Your plans for the future are seriously optimistic right now, illuminated and rejuvenated by recent epiphanies, and by the coming to a head of old and outmoded patterns of showing yourself to your best advantage, hesitating to put your best foot forward or immediately taking it back when you do. June is about preparation, the end of month New Moon and on into July, actualization followed by reflection. By the end of summer you will have come a long way up the side of your particular mountain and the view from that height is very different than from where you started.

Virgo OCT. 23-NOV. 20

A fresh start in career and professional life has you exuberant and communicative right now. What it is about for you is far more than mundane achievement; you are going for the gold ring of your highest intention for yourself. You are intent on finding your true social purpose these days, and while this path is not without its trials and throbbing difficulties, it will prove to be an immensely rewarding one for you as you explore its further reaches. On into July, your vision of future possibilities for yourself will undoubtedly change drastically and in the end, positively. There also may be some painful places inside that you are finally coming to terms with over the course of this period. Sorting through the gains and losses of the past, you are about to experience finding the right combination that unlocks the door to a future that you can really live not only with, but for. The secret lies within.

Scorpio OCT. 23-NOV. 20

This is your time to shine. You are really going for it in the outer world of events right now, and simultaneously working out your evolutionary destiny of growth and change deep within the very core of your being. As the month unfolds, and on into July, you might well encounter old painful patterns of where you are caught in your self-concept, preventing true intimacy, or other more family-oriented and root psychological issues could arise as you sort out the true basis for your security. You may find that you need to acknowledge and nourish a culminating sense of deep inner knowing rather than becoming distracted by the glitter of public achievement. Both outer and inner processes in your life actually feed off and support one another, since it is impossible to have one without the other, like two sides of the same coin, or the yolk and the white of the one shell.

Sagittarius NOV. 21-DEC. 20

You are taking a higher mind approach to outer events at this time with the goal of enlightened partnership and transformational relationship with significant others in your life and with your own inner world also. There are issues that could emerge in the course of these two months concerning your relationship to authority and to beliefs that you have inherited from your parental matrix, or else perhaps stemming from early peer-to-peer encounters and communication that has left its residue in your unconscious. You are seeking to integrate these perhaps difficult early experiences into a more coherent whole, shifting your big picture understanding of past traumas and missteps in a major way, especially during the latter half of June. On into July, you are reviewing your intimate connections with those around you, and reflecting on your spiritual condition and how you have arrived at your present situation. A forgiving viewpoint informs your connections with others right now, and your resulting actions.

Capricorn DEC. 21-JAN. 18

You are getting a new handle over these two months on your ability to be of true service in this world, with the help of others. As the cycle progresses, you are very involved in active engagement with significant partners in your life, leading to a potential reevaluation of your entire relationship dynamic, and your own process of growth as well. Spirited epiphanies coming your way could change how you see your pathway forward, as you seek and even find a deeper level of integration. You are also taking stock at this time of old patterns of insecurity, with an eye to changing them. Your inner work is based on an essentially optimistic assessment of where you are headed and how you can go about making more of your dream vision an actual reality, and your pathway forward more directly in line with your ideals. You may be tempted in the course of this journey to reflect on prior traumas or even to wallow in them, but you might also find the determination to focus on the upside and simply forge ahead.

Aquarius JAN. 19-FEB. 17

Welcome to the roller-coaster ride of your life. You are in the midst of a thoroughgoing transformation of the way you put your best foot forward, and how you fit yourself in with society at large. Good fortune smiles on your career at this time, which can only enhance your experience. Some painful traumas from the past are up for you right now for revision and review, progressively as these two months unfold. You may become more conscious of how you are sidetracked by feelings of not good enough or playing the victim role, or the blame game, which comes to the same thing. Exploring these difficulties has the goal of self-acceptance and eventual healing, as you take in the responses of important partners in order to mediate your own. It's ultimately about refining your creative expression, and getting your feet more firmly planted on the spiral road of your own unique destiny.

Pisces FEB. 18-MARCH 19

You are in the world but not of it these days, as you adjust to a more service-oriented viewpoint that perhaps includes teaching and learning experiences, a major new philosophical stance. In some very important way you are fulfilling yourself from your own well right now, existing just for yourself and yourself alone. Home and family concerns dominate your feeling process especially during June, and there is an accompanying shift to the way you see your role in the world, and to your understanding of who you are at the most fundamental level. You are on a journey of discovery deep inside your psyche and it can be a little isolating, as if you see the world on the other side of a glass doorway that you refuse to enter. Your mission, and you have no real choice but to accept it, would seem to be finding out how to subscribe to the to the world around you in a more meaningful way, a way that is consistent with the purpose that you came into this lifetime to fulfill.

Henry Seltzer, transformational astrologer and creator of the TimePassages astrology software, is based in Santa Cruz, California. Holding degrees from MIT and UCSD, he is a popular speaker and offers life enhancing private astrological counseling. For more information and an extended look at this month's star signs, visit his website: www.astrograph.com.